

09/222833

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A document management apparatus having a constitution for periodically checking whether the attribute information in a document managed by a user conflicts with master information
5 of the attribute information managed by a Personnel server or Enterprise-Department servers or not, and changing the attribute information in the document to the attribute information in the servers when both of the information conflict with each other.